

Subject Repositories

European collaboration in the international context

28-29 January 2010

The British Library Conference Centre, London

You are invited to an international conference with a range of speakers from around the world. The two-day programme will allow delegates to find out about repository trends across three continents.

This conference will look at the progress made with subject repositories so far. It will also see the launch of Economists Online, the key output of an EC-funded subject repository project managed by the Nereus consortium of top European economics libraries. Nereus members will showcase this subject repository in both plenary and parallel sessions, sharing lessons learned and engaging delegates in discussions of the main issues such as content recruitment, search and retrieval services, usage statistics and datasets.

Who should attend?

Subject repository managers / developers, repository managers, information professionals, library directors, web & open access specialists, service providers, publishers, economists, researchers and anyone interested in subject repositories!

Thursday 28 January 2010

12:00-13:00	Registration & lunch
13:00-13:10	WELCOME Jean Sykes, Nereus Chair, Chief Information Officer, LSE
13:10-14:00	KEYNOTE ADDRESS European subject repositories – putting Economists Online into context Hans Geleijnse, NEEO Project Director, Tilburg University President of LIBER
14:00-14:30	The researcher perspective and launch of Economists Online Prof. Nicholas Barr, Professor of Public Economics, LSE
14:30-15:00	Access to scientific information, the European perspective Javier Hernández-Ros, Head of the Access to Information Unit Directorate General for Information Society and Media, European Commission
15:00-15:30	Funders and institutional repositories working together: a view from ESRC and JISC in the UK Dale Heenan, Web Project Manager, ESRC Dr. Neil Jacobs, Programme Manager, JISC
15:30-16:00	Mid afternoon break
16:00-16:40	Orchestrating the movement: Australian repository activity Cathrine Harboe-Ree, University Librarian, Monash University
16:40-17:20	Subject, institutional and other repositories: a US perspective Patricia Renfro, Deputy University Librarian, Columbia University
17:20-18:00	Roles for repositories in the future of scholarly communication Dr. Clifford Lynch, Director of the Coalition for Networked Information

Friday 29 January 2010

08:30-09:00

Refreshments on arrival

09:00-09:05

INTRODUCTION TO THE DAY

Hans Geleijnse, NEEO Project Director, Tilburg University
President of LIBER

09:05-09:40

Building an online subject bibliography service: RePEc in Economics
Prof. Christian Zimmermann, Department of Economics,
College of Liberal Arts and Sciences, University of Connecticut

09:40-10:15

Benefits of a collaborative subject repository for partner libraries
François Cavalier, Library Director, Sciences Po

10:15-10:50

Key features of Economists Online and lessons learned
Wietske Sijtsma, NEEO Project Manager, Tilburg University
Vanessa Proudman, Europeana General Projects Manager

10:50-11:20

Mid morning break

11:20-12:50

PARALLEL WORKSHOPS

Led by Economists Online project partners

STREAM 1

Content recruitment issues

with Vanessa Proudman,
Europeana General Projects Manager

STREAM 2

Infrastructure & interoperability

with Benoit Pauwels,
Head of Automation, Université Libre
de Bruxelles

STREAM 3

Intellectual property rights

with Martin Reid, Team Leader for Social Sciences, UCL Library Services,
UCL

STREAM 4

Multilingual tools

with Carl Demeyere, Librarian of the FBE, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven

STREAM 5

Data sets

with Thomas Place, Manager for Innovation & Internationalization,
Library, Tilburg University

STREAM 6

Usage statistics

with Tim Green, Library IT Manager,
LSE

12:50-13:20

Summing up the conference and the topic
Dr. Paul Ayris, Vice-President of LIBER, Director of UCL Library Services, UCL

13:20-13:30

CONCLUDING REMARKS

Hans Geleijnse, NEEO Project Director, Tilburg University
President of LIBER

13:30-14:30

Lunch

Why attend?

- If you're thinking about setting up a subject repository
- If you need to take your repository to the next level
- To learn more about subject repositories
- To find out about becoming a partner in Economists Online

The delegate fee is £155 (including attendance at plenary and parallel sessions, refreshments during breaks, 2 lunches and VAT).

For further information about how to book, speakers, travel information and hotels, please visit:

www.neeoconference.eu

